NCS named World Oil Awards Finalist in Two Categories

HOUSTON, September 3, 2014 -- NCS Energy Services is a finalist for the 2014 World Oil Awards in two categories: Best Completion Technology for our Multistage Unlimited Frac-Isolation system and Best Well Intervention Technology for our new closable frac sleeve. Award finalists are selected from hundreds of entries from around the world by a select committee of industry experts, with each category being judged only by specialists in the specific industry segment. Other finalists for these two awards include many of the largest service companies in the world. The award winners will be announced at a black-tie ceremony on October 16, in Houston.
